YOUR QUOTA CLUB

Club Officers and Committees

Club President

- Coordinates with predecessor about transferring responsibilities.
- Presides at all meetings and acts as chair of the club's board of directors.
- Appoints all committee chairs unless otherwise stated in the bylaws. Committee chairs can be nominated by club members who then makeup the committee members.
- Is an ex-officio member of all committees except the nominating committee.
- Makes parliamentary decisions and rulings even if there is an official parliamentarian to consult. If there is no parliamentarian, the Club President should refer to Robert's Rules of Procedure as a point of reference.
- Votes only to make or break a tie in voice or roll call vote. If there is a tie, the president often gives a chance for both sides to discuss their proposals. Then the president requests the body to vote again until a majority vote can be attained.
- Votes as any other member in a ballot vote; cannot break a tie in a ballot vote.
- Keeps members informed of regional announcements and international news.
- Communicates with Regional Director, Quota staff and International Board members. The Club President can delegate to the Club Secretary or Club Treasurer to be the point of communication where appropriate, such as the submission of international and regional dues.
- Consults club program chairs and/or special committee chairs when planning special events.
- Ensures the completion of the club annual report each year and submits to headquarters.

Club President-Elect or Vice President

- Coordinates with predecessor about transferring responsibilities.
- Serves as a member of the club's board of directors.
- Assists and advises the President in the performance of duties when called upon.
- Presides at meetings in the absence of the President.
- Performs the duties of the President in her or his absence or inability to serve.
- Oversees new membership, initiatives, and organization in neighboring communities, appointing teams when they are not personally involved.

Club Secretary/Treasurer

Club Secretary

- Coordinates with predecessor about transferring responsibilities.
- Keeps accurate and concise minutes of all business transactions at board and club meetings and distributes them at subsequent meetings.
- Assists the President in preparing meeting agendas.
- Prepares reports for the international office with President's input.
- Answers letters as requested by the President or Board of Directors.
- Keeps files of all important and pertinent correspondence.
- Maintains complete and up-to-date copies of the club's bylaws and other organizational documents.

Club Treasurer

- Coordinates with predecessor about transferring responsibilities.
- Is custodian of all club funds unless otherwise stated in bylaws.
- Collects dues and submits notices to members.
- Receives and disburses all funds by check, as authorized.
- Keeps records of all financial transactions, and reports finalized standing as required by the board.
- Creates and presents an itemized, written, monthly and annual report of receipts and disbursements. The Treasurer often sends these reports by email to all the members prior to every meeting which are then read at the next meeting.
- The treasurer brings the updated bank book or bank statements to each meeting.
- Attends to annual tax reports – local, state, provincial or national. Often assisted by the club auditor if the club has a club auditor assigned.

The treasurer holds an extremely important position as custodian of the club's funds and chair of the club's budget and finance committee. Treasurers should be detail oriented, have basic math skills, be willing to learn, and be bonded (insured). This coverage can be secured through an insurance agent. Some clubs have an assistant treasurer who is preparing to assume the job of treasurer in the future. Local club bylaws must be amended to provide for this position.

Committees

Membership Committee:

Each club should have an ongoing membership committee that is involved in regular recruitment. The committee's day-to-day responsibilities should include approaching professionals and businesses in town that relate to the mission (including school teachers, school administrators, health care persons, audiologists, and speech pathologists). The committee should also sponsor special functions dedicated to membership, as well as following up on new member recommendations.

Service Committees:

Every club should have committees to correspond with serving women, children, the deaf, hard of hearing and speech-impaired.

All committees should:

- Handle club business that falls under their jurisdiction.
- Hold meetings with the President soon after appointment to plan their work. Usually at the beginning of each financial year each committee will be notified of their working budget as approved by the body.
- Submit tentative budgets and programs for approval by the board and the membership.
- Keep records of work and submit annual reports of work accomplished to the President at the end of the fiscal year.

Other committees might include:

- | | | |
|--------------------------------|---------------|---|
| • Ways and means (fundraising) | • Audit | • Scholarship |
| • Financial | • Fundraising | • Events |
| • Marketing | • Governance | • Inter-club relations (outreach to other Quota clubs nearby) |

Additional Notes: Some clubs have a few other board positions like Financial Secretary and a 1st and 2nd Vice President. Clubs also might have one- and two-year board members. The one-year board members are members asked for specific reasons (maybe to help a President who requires help) and the two-year board members are in place for continuity purposes.

QUOTA CLUB SIGNATURE PROJECTS

BUCKETS OF LOVE

Since 1942, Quota Clubs have been gathering donations for women and children receiving help from food pantries, homeless or abuse shelters, community centers, medical centers, hospitals, and schools. This project has grown from a project supporting the troops in WWII into much more. Buckets are filled with food and clothing, healthcare and cleaning supplies, diaries and journals, toys and games, books, and school supplies. 'Buckets' are also baskets, backpacks, hampers, lunch pails, purses, and shoe boxes.

COPS 'N KIDS/QUOCKA LITERACY

Quota Clubs have been supporting Cops 'N Kids since 1998 when the program was founded by Police Officer Julia Burney Witherspoon in Racine, Wisconsin. Books are collected and donated to schools, libraries, community centers, and police departments where officers read to children. More than 1 million books have been given away by the Quota Club of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Quota Clubs in Australia fondly call this program QuoCKa/Quota Cops 'N Kids.

JQ (JUNIOR QUOTA) LEADERSHIP

The first JQ Club launched in 2004. Every year hundreds of high school and college students are mentored throughout Australia, Canada, the Philippines, and the United States to develop leadership skills in their communities. Junior Quota members provide comfort at women's shelters, make blankets for Project Linus, fill shoe boxes for Operation Christmas Child, collect food for local food banks, clean up public areas, raise funds for cancer research, and so much more.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND GRANTS

Quota International was founded with the mission of encouraging young women to go to and stay in school. Since 1919, Quotarians have granted millions of dollars in college scholarships to deaf or hard of hearing students or those who pursue a degree assisting people who are deaf or hard of hearing. Millions of dollars have also been donated to social service agencies providing assistance to women and children, and deaf and hard of hearing in over 250 Quota communities.

SOUND BEGINNINGS

Sound Beginnings began in 1979 with the Shatter Silence program. Quotarians have granted scholarships to deaf students, supported legislation, donated medical equipment for mandated in-hospital newborn hearing screenings, and funded research grants for bettering the lives of deaf or hard-of-hearing. Sound Beginnings projects include offering hearing aid collection and donations, hearing and speech clinics, and classroom sound amplification systems. Educational and workforce training projects also provide Sound Beginnings for all women and children.

INTERNATIONAL WORLD SERVICE

The first World Service Hand in Hand project began in 1983 with the Quota Home for Abandoned and Destitute Women in New Delhi, India. Since then, International World Service has grown to fund projects in two dozen towns and villages in five developing countries. Quota Clubs host International Women's Day Celebrations and public awareness events, raising over $1 million USD to support Health and Well Being, Educational Development, and Workforce Development projects assisting mothers and babies living in dire conditions.

OTHER SPECIAL PROJECTS

- Quota Cares Teddy Bears and Bears & Badges are supported by members donating bears to social workers, emergency services, and hospital staff to give to traumatized children.
- Listen Up Turn It Down healthy hearing curriculum is shared by members in the classroom and in the streets offering free ear plugs at loud events including Carnival in Aruba.
- Signing Santa events are hosted by members giving deaf children the opportunity to speak/sign with Santa.
